

TERRY'S
tidbits

Pop open the champagne!

New name...but everything else is the same!

At the heart, I am all about relationships. Relationships with my family, friends, neighbors and community. I have always loved the “urban-suburbia” feel of San Leandro...the best mix of small town and big city. The way it feels when you are a community. I have based my business model on that same idea...First name, hands on, face to face, personal attention, coupled with ultra-professional quality, knowledge, experience and service. Building trust and relationships, and often, new friends.

My husband, Adrian, and I have “unofficially” been working as a team for years. He is a big part of why my service to my clients is so comprehensive. It was time to make it official! We share a vision for continuing what we have been doing, but doing it even better!

A little about the name...

Varos was Adrian’s grandfather’s last name. Grandpa Varos was a master carpenter who taught Adrian much. Unfortunately his only 2 sons died in childhood, and Adrian promised his grandfather he would find a way to carry on the family name.

Family, Quality, Legacy. That sums up who we are, and what we stand for, both personally and professionally. That won’t change! Terry’s Real Estate career and Adrian’s construction company have been destined to merge. Our name and logo may be different, but the service, commitment to the community, and customer experience will only get better! We can’t wait to share this journey with you.

Feel free to drop by and chat! We are still at 1031 Mac Arthur Blvd., San Leandro

Sweet Potato Taco Boats

This is a weeknight go-to in our house! It is a healthier version of a stuffed baked potato! Simply bake several whole sweet potatoes (or microwave for a few minutes until slightly soft), make ground turkey taco meat (per seasoning pack instructions), slice open the potato and fill with the taco meat and all the usual fixins! We love salsa fresca, black beans, plain greek yogurt and avocado. For spice lovers, have you tried the Green Dragon Sauce from Trader Joes? Yum!

Whether you are a football fan or not, it's hard not to have a little local pride! Here are some fun facts that you can share around the water cooler!

Did you know?

- Raiders running back Marcus Allen was the first player in the history of the NFL to gain more than 10,000 yards rushing and more than 5,000 yards receiving during his career.
- At the time that Raiders head coach John Madden retired from coaching he had coached in the league for ten years, won a Super Bowl ring, would eventually be voted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame, and was the youngest coach ever to reach 100 victories. Amazingly, he was also just 42 years old.
- The Raiders franchise is the only NFL team to win championships in the 1960s, 1970s and 1980s.
- During the team's second season of play in 1961, the Oakland Raiders played their home games across the bay in San Francisco's Candlestick Park.
- The Raiders Super Bowl XV win over the Philadelphia Eagles allowed them to become the first Wild Card team ever to win the big game
